

Western Sandcherry

(Seedlings are Superstock 10"-16")
3' to 6' Feet tall, and is a very hardy shrub. This Cherry withstands heat, cold, wind, and drought. Spring-blooming white flowers are replaced with large, purplish, sweet cherries good for jams, jellies, and pies. Glossy foliage makes it a nice ornamental. This species will do well in the outer rows of multiple-row windbreaks. The cherries provide a great food source for many species of birds.
